Cozy spaces encourage more reading and writing

Create a special shelf or bin for your child’s books. Keep the books in your home low and easily accessible so that children can reach them on their own.

Make a special reading spot in your home! It can be a specific chair or a corner of a room.

Have the books in your special reading area facing out so that kids can see the covers of their favorite stories.

Make your special reading space as quiet as possible. Readers concentrate better when they are not distracted by TV or music.

Make your reading spot cozy! Use pillows and comfy chairs to make a it a space you want to spend time in.

Keep paper, crayons, markers and pens in different places around the house so that more writing moments can happen at any time.
